COMMENTS ON ICE SITUATION. How It Is Viewed in Hartford-President of State Association Writes from Norwalk.

The following from Monday's Hart-ford Times is one of the sharpest com-mentaries on the Willimantic ice sitation and citizens think the editor of he Bridgeport Telegram might backslide from his municipal ownership doctrines after he read it carefully:

The mayor told The Times reporter Friday evening that Willard H. Smith, the wholesale fruit dealer on North street, has informed him that if it comes to a point where ice is needed budly and cannot be had, he will see the formula. will agree to furnish all that is wanted. He knows where there is plenty and it can be had for a reasonable price. Mr. Smith was asked Saturday if he had gone to the mayor with this offer and he said he had.

Mr. Curtis Expresses His Views. George E. Curtis of Norwalk, vice-president of the Connecticut Ice Deal-ers association, makes the following comments on the ice situation in Wil-
